WHAT WE ARE READING

In a compelling narrative, Karl Marlantes weaves riveting accounts of his combat experiences with thoughtful analysis, self-examination, and his readings—from Homer to the Mahabharata to Jung. He makes it clear just how poorly prepared our nineteen-year-old warriors—mainly men but increasingly women—are for the psychological and spiritual aspects of their journey.

THE INVISIBLE WOUNDS OF WAR: COMING HOME FROM IRAQ AND AFGHANISTAN by Marguerite Guzmán Bouvard (book)

Guzmán Bouvard examines the less-visible effects of war on US soldiers returning from Iraq and Afghanistan—the psychological and emotional wounds—that impact their lives and their families.

WHEELS DOWN: ADJUSTING TO LIFE AFTER DEPLOYMENT by Bret A. Moore and Carrie H. Kennedy (book)

Commonsense advice in plain language for military personnel returning home, the book addresses some of the most common problems returning service members experience.

HOW WAR COMES HOME

California has the largest population of veterans in the United States. By understanding veterans better, we can respond wisely to returning service men and women. To aid this effort, Shasta Public Libraries joins dozens of California libraries in offering a community read and supporting programs. Borrow a copy of

What It is Like to Go to War by Vietnam Marine Sergeant and Rhodes Scholar Karl Marlantes and attend one of the several free events presenting different views and voices on the topic.
