Policy on Make-up Exams Proposed by Faculty Group

A statement of policy on make-up examinations was submitted today by the faculty scholarship committee to the members of the faculty for their approval. If there are no objections, the policy will be included in an early bulletin to students. It was explained by Mr. Donald H. Kauffman, chairman of the committee which includes Mr. Warren Bailey, Mr. Oscar Matson, Mrs. Morva Nostetine, Mr. Robert Theiler, and Mr. Lawrence Wilbur.

The scholarship committee discussed what our attitude should be toward make-up examinations,” Mr. Kauffman stated. “It was felt that instructors should be protected against any undue burden resulting from an expectation on the part of students that they were entitled to make-up examinations, and that the same time it was felt that any policy established should not restrain an instructor from giving make-up examinations if he chose to do so.”

The proposed statement of policy is as follows:

Students who miss examinations should understand that instructors are not obliged to prepare and administer special make-up examinations, which students who are married and more than 20 of them have children. There are two grandmothers attending school, and one of the grandmothers has a married daughter attending classes.

(1) Give a make-up examination if it is feasible and fair to do so.
(2) Record an “F” grade if, in his judgment, this seems appropriate to the circumstances.
(3) Disregard, or partially disregard, the missed examination in the final grading if he sees fit to do so.

It is the responsibility of the student who misses an examination to consult the instructor with respect to the disposition to be made of the matter. Failure to consult the instructor leaves him with little alternative to recording an “F” grade.

Mothers and Even Grandmothers Are Enrolled at S.C.

Who are the 270 students attending Shasta College? More than 30 of them are married and more than 20 of them have children. There are two grandmothers attending school, and one of the grandmothers has a married daughter attending classes.

OFFICE BULLETINS

Shasta College was represented by four student delegates, Barbara Harrison, Babs Hoffman, Ted Meeker, and John Blalock, and three faculty advisors, Dr. College, president of Shasta College; Miss Morva Nostetine, dean of women; and Mr. Ernest Stumpf, dean of student activities, at the 10th Bi-Annual California Junior College Student Government Conference in Sacramento at the Senator Hotel and State Capitol Thursday through Saturday.

Fifty-seven of the sixty-one J. C.’s in California, of which Shasta is the newest and most northern, were represented by this student leaders’ conference. Thursday evening, the conference commenced with a banquet in the Em-
State School Head Visits SC, Price

Mr. Ray E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, visited Shasta College October 20. Mr. Simpson was on his way to an Institute of Modoc County teachers. It was a personal visit as well as an official one, since Mr. Simpson had approved and recommended the Shasta College location in Redding to the State Department of Education. He also was at one time in the education field in Shasta County.

Mr. Jackson Price accompanied Mr. Simpson as he inspected the college and grounds and looked over some of the classes in session. Mr. Price quoted Mr. Simpson as being very pleased with the plans, its site, and campus.

While enroute home from Modoc County Sunday, Mr. Simpson was a dinner guest of Mr. Price. This is a friendship of a quarter of a century, going back to the time when Mr. Simpson was principal of Anderson high school and Mr. Price was a teacher in that institution.

Mr. Simpson often visits Mr. Price at his summer cabin for fishing. They have, in fact, celebrated an anniversary of 25 years of fishing in Shasta County together.

This is just too bad!

In the last edition of "The Shasta" the school calendar story was taken directly from the Shasta College Bulletin and put into print. Since then, there has been a change concerning Thanksgiving Vacations. November 20, 21, and 22 will be regular school days. School will not be in session, however, on November 23 and 24.

COFFEE BUSES COVER
LARGEST JC DISTRICT

There are 18 buses bringing students to Shasta College every day. Two of the buses are driven by students who attend classes during the day; they are Jerry Sirdorf and Keith Erwin.

Erwin drives the school bus to Corning every day, a distance of 50 miles, and probably rides further to school than any other student at Shasta College. The bus leaves Corning every morning around seven o'clock.

"Shasta Junior College district, no doubt, covers more territory than any other junior college district in the state," said Mr. Harold Puffer. Buses travel 50 miles in three directions, north, east, and south.

Can It Be True?

Dr. G. A. Colyer stated this week that it is hoped that work on the student union will be completed by late Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning.

Full lunches may not be served but some service will be provided. Plans for the opening of the book store are indefinite.

G-M Entertains First Assembly

A scientific exhibition was presented by two members of the General Motors Company staff, James Rease and Del Corson, to the Shasta Junior College Assembly, at Shasta Union High School Auditorium, Monday.

Dr. Gilbert A. Colyer reported the formation of student bodies, football and basketball, the writing of a school constitution and the rapid development of curricular activities. He was followed by Jerry Jefcoat, chairman of the steering committee, who outlined the financial report, and Jay Townsend, who made the social announcements.

EXPERIENCE IS NEEDED

The Steering Committee, with its various sub-committees, has been attempting to form a strong, well-organized body by which Shasta can grow into one of the outstanding colleges in California. When an invitation was extended, inviting us to the 10th Bi-Annual California Junior College Student Government Conference held in Sacramento, we realized that this was where we could obtain the necessary information with which to construct our student organization. And how right our assumption was!

If I were to sum into one phrase the reason for the difficulties we've come against so far, I would say it was our "lack of experience." I'm sure you've all heard, or perhaps expressed the opinion yourselves, that our "school is fine, but not much different from high school." That's true, to a point; we've perhaps been running on a high school level. But what can we actually expect? Only 31 Shasta students have had previous college experience—and not all of them are actively interested in student affairs. In other words, our college is, and will be, run in this "formation period" largely by people with no previous college experience—by past high school seniors.

This presents a unique problem—one that is not impossible to solve, yet one that is pertinent to the establishing of a firm collegiate student government. It is a problem that faces every student interested in our Shasta College. It is the duty of each of us to further our knowledge of the activities of other colleges and to contribute our information to the betterment of our school. This is the only way Shasta can be brought to a college, rather than high school, level. We are a college. We are mature enough to assume the responsibilities of adults. Thereby exerting our prerogative to actively contribute to student affairs.

As yet, Shasta has no name for her athletic teams; this is only the second edition of our paper—future material is needed badly; the yearbook has many positions open; a play is in the process of being cast—these are only a few of the activities to which each of us can contribute, if only he is willing.

As was expressed before, we do have a unique problem—that of being a brand new college trying to be a college, not just a continuation of high school, yet with the majority of students entirely inexperienced in college affairs. Because of this very problem we have the definite advantage of having absolutely no established policies. Most of the problems that were discussed at the C. J. C. S. G. C. at Sacramento involved the breaking or disregarding of policies that were outdated and that had been adopted long ago. The way is clear for our policies to be made with a generous hand—our faculty is happy to co-operate, the people of Redding will back us 100 percent if we prove worthy.

We must justify the faith that built our Alma Mater, Shasta. Support it with your active help. —B. H.

A WORD TO THE WISE

A word to the wise is oftentimes sufficient. The Scholarship Committee, acting in the interests of the educational progress of Shasta College students, has issued deficiency notices to those who do not have satisfactory grade standings in various courses. The notices are issued at the end of the sixth and twelfth weeks of the semester as a timely warning to students whose grades are not up to par, to put forth extra effort to bring their grades up to passing marks. Students are urged to consult with their instructors regarding their difficulties. Instructors are anxious to help students improve their studies.

The use of "Blue Books" is now being required for most examinations. They are available now at the student book store. —P. M.

FROM SISKIYOU NEWS

Apparently, other newspapers read this one. An item in the Siskiyou Daily News, a Yreka paper, says in part:

"We received Volume 1, Number 1 of new Shasta College's newspaper, 'Shastan.' The name-plate carries a Redding-way view of our Mount Shasta . . . For a first edition, we'll award the Shastan an 'E' for efficiency."

Thanks, fellows.
BASKETBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED FOR SHASTA

Shasta College's 1950-51 basketball schedule was released this week by Carl A. Gilmore, coordinator of athletics at the college. The schedule, instead of being of the home and home variety, is featured by two night stands with the same opponent.

Besides the regular league play, the SC cagers will engage Oregon Tech, Stockton, and Lassen Colleges in pre-season encounters.

Highlight of the season is the trip to Modesto for the Ninth annual state junior college basketball tourney. This tourney will be held on January 3, 4, 5, and 6, in the Modesto Junior College gymnasium. Teams from all over the state take part in this tournament, and usually the action is very fast. Placer College, which is in the Golden Valley Conference along with Shasta, took the honors last year at Modesto.

In conference play, the Shastans engage Napa, Placer and Yuba colleges in Redding, and travel to Vallejo, Grant Tech (Sacramento), and Yuba for their road encounters.

The home game is on Friday, December 8, when the Lassen College five comes to Redding for a two night stand. The teams will meet on the 8th, and also on Saturday, December 9.

There are still open dates on the slate. January 12 and 13 have been left open, with the hope of getting some top-notch JC hoop squad to come to Redding for game dates on the 12th. Only one date had to be cancelled. The December 20 game, which was scheduled with Branch Agricultural College of Cedar City, Utah, was called off because the Aggies could not make the trip. The Aggies, along with several other Utah two year schools, travel throughout the state usually every season, to engage the local teams of California.

The local cagers should place high in the standings of the Golden Valley Conference, they will undoubtedly be GYM IS COMING UP—No, at present the Shasta College gym does not look like it did above when school opened this fall. It is nearing completion, and it won’t be long now before this structure, which will seat 2,600 spectators, is ready for the first basketball contest. The swimming pool is already dug. Separate units for dressing rooms are a part of the section.

Shop Offers Free Work On Cars to SC Students

Drive your own car to school? If it’s like most cars driven by college students you will probably be glad to hear that you can get your work done at the college auto mechanics shop. Mr. L. Wilbur, the auto mechanics teacher, said that the shop class will be glad to accept any auto repair work of an instructional nature. (Nope, that doesn’t include fixing flats.) The only charge made will be for parts and lubricants used in the job.

The mechanics class consists of ten students and is intended to give experience in a variety of auto repair jobs. All shop work is supervised by Mr. Wilbur.

Mr. Wilbur and the rest of the shop personnel are proud of their section of the school and want everyone to feel welcome to visit the shop at any time. Most of the men have already been shown the shop layout, so the guys in the shop want the girls to be especially encouraged to drop in and look things over, and vice versa.—Norwood Marsh.

College Library Adds New Books

New books are being added daily to the shelves in the college library. Mr. Milton Black, librarian, states that books of every type and kind are being marked and put on the shelves for students’ use.

Halloween Dance Attracts Students

Halloween was the theme of last Friday’s dance, which was held in the music room of the college.

He was assisted by Andrew Cairns, Beverly Speer, and John Blakely. Various committee members were: refreshments, Irene Steagall, chairman, and Ann Vardon; decorations, Albert Campbell, chairman, Helen Gershahoff, Ann Vardon, and Beverly Speer; publicity, Laura Seward.

Music for the dance was by the newly organized college dance band under the direction of Mr. P. Stubblefield.

RECORD-SEARCHLIGHT HELPS

Now It's There---
And Now It Isn't

Been hunting? And how! And a lot of good it ever does. You certainly are right; I have had no luck whatever. I know a lot depends on being in the right spot at the right time.

Listen, my friend, I have tried sneaking up at what I considered the most opportune moment. I have tried waiting and watching and waiting some more. All is of no avail. Certainly I have hiked miles. There was simply no other way to get there. All that rainy weather! If rainy weather is ever perfect that was certainly the perfect time for contact. I had rain on my nose and mud in my shoes, not to mention my socks. As you may have guessed, just when I thought Lady Luck was about to smile on me at last, when I was practically all set and couldn't miss it, suddenly dawned on me that I had forgotten something.

My gun? What on earth could you be talking about? I dashed back to my locker, grabbed my gun eraser and rubber cement, and dashed back to the door just in time to see the shuttle bus drive away.

—Mildred Rhea.

Mr. Wilbur says at this time the shop is swamped with work, so much so that the class is about two weeks behind. Work is progressing in the shop now on three motor rebuild jobs, one front and rebuilding job, and one transmission rebuild.

To get some of this free-for-nothing service, see Mr. Wilbur to get a work order and to make a date to drag the wreck in. Mr. Wilbur would like to keep jobs at a minimum now because the shop has no lubrication lift and the rainy weather has made it too muddy for the mechanics to crawl underneath the cars to grease them.

Shop work is not restricted to students; the faculty has this privilege, too, although student cars get priority.

Redding California
JV Basketball Team Works Out

Seventeen men have turned out for the Shasta College J. V. basketball squad. The team, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Tinkler, has been practicing for two weeks now, and the first five is rounding into shape.

Jim Bidwell, Leon Bronson, Clyde Bisnett, Ralph Bright, and Jim Valentine seem to work together the best, and this combination has shown well in the first sessions.

Tinkler stated yesterday that the squad will try to line up games with the reserve squads of other JC's, town teams, and high school varsity teams.

Only Yuba and Placer have indicated so far that they will have JV squads, however, so the Shastans may have to confine their slats to town and high school teams.

If a Redding city league is started for industrial teams, Tinkler said that his players may enter in order to get that one game for practice purposes.

With practice slated for Monday and Wednesday nights at the high school, the squad hopes to work itself into a smooth unit by the time of the first game.

ONE-ACT PLAY HERE

A one-act play, "Please Do Not Pick the Flowers," was presented by members of Miss V. Chapelle's class at the college assembly in the music room Monday. The cast, introduced by Ann Vardon, was Barbara Leach, Barbara Maxime, and Jay Townsend.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

Many people have been wondering what color the building is going to be—well, it isn't "going to be" any more—it is. Yes, it's going to stay bright red. Looks kind of good, don't you think?

Shasta College has a school song. Several students have been heard singing it in the hall lately. The melody was written by Mr. Stubblefield and the radio class helped with the words.

Art and Home Economics classes have finally moved over from the high school building. Attendance will probably pick up in these classes now that there isn't so much chance of getting lost on the way.

The book store, formerly located in the journalism quarters, has been moved to its permanent location in the student union.

Freshman students got quite a shock last Tuesday when Mr. Black played a record he had recorded the day before in the "Quarter of the Library." He has started watching more closely now, though, so look out.

It won't be long until the halls will resound with phrases of "Arsenic and Old Lace," as the cast for the school play goes into rehearsals. Miss Chapelle is in charge.

The driver of the dump truck working between the wings of the building was just a little surprised last Wednesday when the weight of the load on the truck stuck the truck on end rather than emptying itself.

And then there is the true story of the Shasta College administrator who called up his wife in the middle of the morning to bring his car to school—

GREETINGS FROM PRESIDENT COLLYER

Greetings to our students, faculty and to our friends throughout California who have been following the development of Shasta College. This issue of our college newspaper is another first in the long line of events which occur in the evolution of a new institution or activity.

Shasta College is the answer to the dreams of many persons who have desired a post-high school educational institution in Northern California for a good many years. In reviewing the dream for you, may I mention some of the steps? In November, 1947, the Board of Trustees authorized the establishment of a Junior College in Redding and the State Board of Education gave its approval in January, 1948. A big step forward was the voting of a bond issue by the School District in October of 1948. This made construction of school buildings possible. An architect was employed, Charles Dean of Sacramento, being the choice. In June of 1949 I was honored by being employed as president. Plans were submitted to the State Division of Architecture in the fall of 1949, received approval in January of 1950, conducted by the Masonic Lodge of California. We have passed our first opening day for a semester. Some 275 students have enrolled. We had our first flag donated by the Native Sons of the Golden West. Our first action was to sell student body cards, the next was to select green and grey as school colors. A Steering Committee has been elected and is now at work on a Constitution.

Many other firsts lie ahead. You as students, we as faculty, are privileged to be a part of an important movement. May we so carry out our responsibility that in the years ahead we can view in retrospect a period in educational progress in which we will be proud to have participated.

—G. A. Collyer, president.

Library Is Among Best, Says Black

"The new library at Shasta College promises to be one of the finest in this part of the state," said Mr. Milton Black, librarian.

Opening of New College Attracts Many Students

Shasta College was officially opened on September 18, by Dr. Gilbert A. Collyer, president, and Jackson Price, district superintendent, with an address to the students and faculty. Students from all over California are registered at the new college. The opening week saw 242 men and women registering with several more recorded before the official closing registration date.

There are 20 regular instructors and four coordinators teaching the two-year curriculum that includes such preparatory courses as business administration, law, teaching, agriculture, journalism, dentistry, medicine, dental hygiene, nursing, forestry, veterinary medicine, home economics, engineering, music, and art. There are also a number of terminal vocational courses offered.

The $1,750,000 college has classrooms for all the academic subjects, shops for the mechanical, industrial and agriculture arts, and laboratories for the sciences. Also included is a library, a student union, a cafeteria, a home-making laboratory, an art studio and rooms and laboratories for the business department, and a gymnasium, football and baseball fields.

In addition to the regular day college courses, there are more than 30 courses offered in the evening adult education program which is under the direction of Mr. Raymond Sanders.

Although construction work on this latest addition to California's ranks of higher educational institutions is not entirely completed, sufficient room has been found for all classes and work is progressing along with ease.
Many Courses Offered Here

Shasta College offers a grand total of twenty-nine different courses, ranging from complete two year courses to completion of lower division requirements towards entering higher schools of learning.

Listed below are the numerous offerings:

- Pre-professional curricula — letters and science (general), pre-business administration, pre-dentistry, pre-medical, pre-dental hygiene, pre-nursing, pre-optometry, pre-veterinary, pre-industrial arts, pre-agriculture (animal science), pre-agriculture (plant science), pre-home economics, pre-engineering, pre-chiroprapy, pre-teaching, pre-forestry, and pre-music.

- Terminal curricula — general business and steniling, bookkeeping, business management, clerk typist, secretarial, industrial arts, commercial art, auto mechanics, electricity, drafting, homemaking, and agriculture.

Need a Job, Bub?

For the first time in her long experience as director of placement, Miss Evelyn Twiddle has more jobs available than students to fill the positions.

At latest reports, more than 100 college students had been placed in part-time jobs to aid them in acquiring a formal education.

The main difficulties encountered thus far have been caused by school schedules conflicting with the work hours. However, these problems, in the main, have been cleared and positions for students desiring employment are continuing to appear.

Miss Twiddle's office hours begin at noon and continue through the last four periods. She urges anyone interested to call at her cubicle in the college main office.

146 Student Body Cards Are Bought

Sales of student membership cards have reached 146, according to Mr. Ernest Stump, director of guidance and student personnel.

"Students who have not purchased their membership cards should do so at once, not only for the immediate benefit to themselves, such as reduced rates at games and movies, but for the long range benefit of school publications and a full athletic program," Mr. Stump stated.

The student body budget for next year must be drawn up immediately by the Student Steering Committee members, who urge all students to cooperate.

Want to Work on the Annual?

Students interested in working on Shasta's yearbook should contact the faculty advisors, Mr. M. Graban, Mr. W. Bailey, or Mr. D. Boyd soon. Work will start on this publication in a few days.

Mr. Bailey will handle photography and advertising, while Mr. Boyd will supervise the art work. Editorial material, printing, etc., will be in Mr. Graban's hands.

College Chooses Green and Grey

Green and Grey were chosen as the official colors of Shasta College in the election which was held the second week of school.

The colors for the ballot were chosen by a color committee, members of which represented each Introduction to College group of the sophomore class group. Colors were considered on the basis of being different from other schools in the athletic league and in the dyeing qualities of each color.

Members of the color committee were George Wren, chairman, Darlene Clark, Charles Salinas, Leon Bronson, Kay Myers, Dick Lamoureaux, Jack Evans, Duane Allen, Barbara Leach, and Stanley Ward. Mr. E. Stump was advisor for the group.

Well Is It, or Isn't It?

A rumor going the rounds on the campus is that green and grey will not be the official school colors after all because many persons objected to the combination. If this is true, local businesses will be glad not to stock up on green and grey pennants, jerseys, hats, and what have you until this color matter is cleared up.

EDITORIAL—
The status of present is confusion and inconvenience: However, it takes no great abundance of optimism to foresee the promising future which awaits those with just a smattering of forbearance. Our school and campus will undoubtedly develop into something very beautiful and serviceable.

Our attitude should be one of patience and cooperation.

This institution is ours, yours, and mine. We are the first of tens and hundreds of classes to enroll and graduate here. Each of us constitutes an integral part of school, so what it becomes during the next two years is squarely up to us.

We are not entering a school with long-established rules and traditions of which we approve. We, in cooperation with the faculty, will formulate our own ideas and see them placed in our constitution. It is to be hoped we will be as thorough as possible. It's ours; let's not fail ourselves!

THE 'WHY' OF BUYING STUDENT BODY CARDS
You've had loyalty "pep talks" since the day you first walked through Shasta College portals, so rather than repeat what you've probably already heard, I'm going to appeal to your "practical self." Now, we know $7.50 isn't to be scoffed at, but we also know that you're in SAVE. The money is going to buy student body cards which will give you the following benefits:

- Access to the student union
- Discounts on food and coffee
- Use of the library

Remember, you're investing in your future here at Shasta College. Let's make the most of it!

OFFICE BULLETINS
Parked of automobiles must be restricted while construction is going on during the next few weeks. It will be best to enter either by the Eighth Street or Magnolia Street entrance (Eureka Way entrance will be closed) and to park either in the area to the rear of the college gymnasium or along the drive running from Eighth Street to the stadium.

More Psych Tests Taken
A second psychology test, supervised by Mr. Stump, was given to 36 students Friday, October 12. Although this same test was given to a number of students September 9, there are still a few students who have not taken the test, but will take it later. It is a standard psychological test given in many colleges.

Dr. G. A. Collier has been busy addressing groups for the past few months. Recently he addressed the Tehama County Teachers Association on "The Development of Shasta College." He also spoke to the 20-30 Club of Redding.

First tests of the year were given recently by many of the teachers. From the students' point of view at least, Mr. K. Tinkler (American History), came up with the most popular. It was a sample test for the students' benefit, which was corrected in class and passed in to the instructor. This test was not for the record, but to acquaint the student with the type of test he may be given and to give the instructor an idea of how much of the lecture material the student is retaining.

Book Store Has Permanent Staff

Plans for the transfer of the college bookstore to the new quarters in the student union are underway and should be completed sometime this week, Mr. R. Frembling, head of the store, said.

The larger amount of facilities and the increased number of students in the salesmanship class will add more operating hours to the present schedule, and any suggestions to improving the service will be welcomed, Mr. Frembling added.

A permanent staff to assist in the operation of the bookstore has been chosen by Mr. Frembling. They are as follows: manager, Donald Munns; advertising, Wanda Grooms; sales manager, Mike Morgan; and secretaries, Nancy Hix and Bill Goodrich.

One-Act Play, Radio Program To Be Offered

Miss Virginia Chappell, radio and drama advisor and instructor, has rushed into production both a one-act play and a tentative 15-minute radio program.

The play, entitled “Please Do Not Pick the Flowers,” is scheduled to be presented at the first assembly. The cast includes three thespians: Barbara Maxim as Marianne, Jay Townsend as Jack, and Barbara Leach as Mrs. Downey.

The radio program, scheduled to hit the air some two weeks in the future, will be the first in a series to extend throughout the school year. Its purpose is to acquaint the listening audience with accomplishments of our college.

Basketball Team Starts Practice

Shasta College’s first basketball team started its initial workouts Tuesday night, October 3, in the Shasta high school gymnasium. Coach Bob Thelier greeted some 25 hopefuls at the first turnout of the coga squad.

Workouts will be held every Tuesday and Thursday night from 7 to 9 until the start of the season. The college will play most of its games in the high school gym this year, as its own court, which is under construction, will not be finished until the middle of January.

Among the men turning out for the team are Dick Lamprao, who played basketball at Yuba College last season, and Jack Lamplough, member of the 1949-50 Santa Rosa JC team. Thelier hopes to have a well rounded squad which can hold its own in the Golden Valley JC conference.

Grant Tech of Sacramento, Placer College, and Vallejo College’s Redkins are the traditional big guns in the conference. Napa Junior College and Yuba College’s 49ers also are entered in the league.

New uniforms have been ordered for the first college team, with the school colors—green and silver gray—being the predominant color of the suits to be worn by the squad this year.

Coach Thelier has planned a complete schedule for the SC squad this season, and it includes besides home and home league encounters a trip to the state tournament early in January.

Women’s Club Planned

Plans for a Women’s Recreational Association at Shasta College have been announced, with the group looking toward a fall dance and other activities in the coming months.

NICKNAME NEEDED

It wouldn’t be such a bad idea to start thinking about a nickname for future Shasta College athletic teams, says Jerry Jefcoat, chairman of the Steering Committee.

If he doesn’t forget, Jefcoat will have in the office a box in which you may put your suggestions. And remember to sign your name so that if your nickname is chosen you can brag about it the rest of your life.

ASK HIM HOW HE DOES IT

Local papers have been giving some publicity to Richard Bailey of the faculty and his brand of golf. It seems that he once won the amateur golf title of San Francisco. Recently, he won in competition at the Redding Country Club.

ANY SUGGESTIONS?

What is this newspaper going to be called?
The name used this week—SHASTAN—has been selected only for this issue. It may be used by the students select the name they want—for this is the students’ newspaper. How the name is to be selected will be up to one of the student committees. If you, as a student, have any suggestions for a name, why not leave it with any of the staff members of this paper?

EXPERIENCE HERE GETS PUBLICITY

A Shasta College instructor, Ralph Mathews, had his picture and an article concerning one of his students published in the Sacramento Bee Saturday. The article says in part: “On October 14, 1950, Ralph E. Mathews, head of the veterans program in the agricultural division of Shasta College, said Warren Grindley, Whittmore veteran, has accomplished one of the finest examples of up grading in beef cattle he has seen in years.

“Mr. Mathews said Grindley, who recently came to Shasta County from Long Beach and had no previous experience in farming, secured an exceptionally fine bull calf from a very poor cow bred to a high grade bull which Grindley purchased from the John Crowe Ranch of Shasta County.

“Mathews said Grindley’s experiment has been watched with interest by other veterans in the program and in Shasta Union High School veteran curriculum.”

FIRST SOCIAL HELD

Friday night, October 6, marked the first social function for Shasta College. A get-acquainted dance was held in the music room where dancing continued from 9 until 1. Music was provided by records and soft drinks were on sale. Jay Townsend was general chairman and Ann May Duren was co-chairman.

WHO’S WHO AT SHASTA COLLEGE

Board of Trustees: Wilbur Simons, president; Dudley Salester, clerk; E. C. Frisbie, Gilbert DeForest, and Matt Rumboltz.
District Superintendent: Jackson Price.
College President: Gilbert A. Collyer.
Others are: Ray Sanders, dean of evening school; Ernest Stump, director of guidance and student personnel; Kenneth Tinkler, dean of men; Mrs. Marva Notestine, dean of women; Robert Freflambing, bookstore manager; Carl Gilmore, coordinator of athletics; Neldon Taylor, coordinator of agricultural education; Mrs. Evelyn Twaddle, coordinator of placement; Mrs. Beth Starr, school nurse; Miss Dorothy Heryford, school secretary; and Mrs. Hazel Lincum, student body fund comptroller.

The faculty members and the subjects they teach are as follows:
Gilbert A. Collyer, Introduction to College.
Milton Black: Librarian.
Donald Boyd: History and Appreciation of Art, Form and Design, Drawing, Lettering and Layout, and Crafts.
Virginia Choppell: English 1-A, English 51, Public Speaking, Radio Production, and Dramatics.
Carl Gilmore: Men’s Physical Education.
Michael Grabin: English 50, Publicity, English 1-A, Creative Writing, and Business English.

BEETER GET BUSY, JOE

The office announces that a report on students’ grades will be made on November 6. At that time, all students who are not doing satisfactory work in their classes will be given the bad news. The faculty decided on this six-weeks report at the last meeting.

ATTENDING COMMUNITY

- Winning Clothing, Family Living, and General Homemaking.
- Ralph Matthews: Veterans Supervision, Crop Production, Feeds and Feeding.
- Oscar Matson: French 1, Spanish 1, English 50, English 51, and German 1.
- Marva Notestine: Dean of Women, Foundation of Sports, Women’s Physical Education, and Hygiene.
- Raymond Sanders: Advanced shorthand, Beginning shorthand, and Adult School Administration.
- Philip Stubblefield: Beginning Harmony, Notation and Appreciation of Music, and Mixed Chorus.
- Ernest Stump: Introduction of College and General Psychology.
- Neldon Taylor: Types and Breeds.

HALLOWE’EN DANCE OCT. 27TH

A Hallowe’en costume dance will be held on November 6. At that time, all students who are not doing satisfactory work in their classes will be given the bad news. The faculty decided on this six-weeks report at the last meeting.

TUNES HEADS CLUB

Don Toenjes was elected president of the Shasta Aggies, the first club to be organized at Shasta College, during the second week of school. Other officers of the club are: Lester Van Meter, vice president; George Daniels, secretary-treasurer; and Leland Ruth, reporter. Mr. Robert Mathews, agricultural instructor, is advisor for the group.

MUSIC GROUPS CAN USE MORE STUDENTS

Shasta College band, under the tutelage of Mr. P. Stubblefield, is showing rapid progress. Consisting of some 20 members, the organization is headed for a busy season. Although there will not be a marching unit this year, such a group is planned for the second year.

A dance band also is being organized under the temporary management of Nick Wadall. This group will entertain at some high school and college functions, it is hoped.

The chorus enrollment has been light, but it is hoped it will increase as schedules are clarified. The glee club now has 15 members, but at least 15 more are needed: Mr. Stubblefield urges anyone interested in musical courses to contact him.

Myers, Evans Head Paper; Hoffman, Blood, Yearbook

Editors and business managers of Shasta College publications were chosen by the Steering Committee at a recent meeting.

Kay Myers, of Redding, will be editor of the Shastan, student newspaper; and Jack Evans, also of Redding, will act as business manager.

The editor of the yearbook will be Bob Hoffman, of Redding; and business manager, Ronald Blood, of Weaverville.

All of the students selected have had considerable experience on high school publications. Miss Myers held several editing jobs on the Shasta High School Volcano. Evans, in addition to his work on the Volcano and the Shasta Daisy, served a year in the copy department of the Portland, Ore., Journal, and two years as advertising salesman on the Red Bluff Daily News. For six months he was circulation manager on the latter paper.

Opening of Union Attracts Crowds

Miss Hoffman did work on the Shasta Daisy and on the Volcano of which she was art editor. Blood was associate editor of the Trinity County High School annual, Weaverville.

Sanders Elected Secretary of J. C. Ed. Association

Mr. Raymond Sanders, member of Shasta College faculty and dean of night school, was chosen secretary of the Northern California Jr. College Association at its fall meeting in the University of California at Berkeley last Saturday. Affairs and problems of the various junior colleges were discussed. Those of the faculty representing Shasta College were Mr. Gilbert A. Collyer, president, Mr. Jackson Price, superintendent, Mr. Sanders, Mr. Kenneth Tinkler, dean of men, Mr. Richard Bailey and Mr. Ernest Stump, dean of student personnel.

The meeting was held in the morning. The visiting representatives attended the University of California Jr. College Convocation.

Cinch Notices Mailed To Many SC Students

The following policy, stated in last week's copy of the "Shastan" as having been proposed by the faculty Scholarship Committee, is now the official attitude of the college respecting make-up examinations.

Students who miss examinations should understand that instructors are not obliged to prepare and administer special make-up examinations, which are often but not permanent for the regular time. Instructors will try to deal fairly with those students who miss examinations, but college policy permits the instructor, in such cases, to do any one of the following:

1. Give a make-up examination if it is feasible and fair to do so.
2. Record an "F" grade if, in his judgment, this seems appropriate.
3. Disregard, or partially disregard, the missed examination in the final grading if he sees fit to do so.

It is the responsibility of the student who misses an examination to consult the instructor with respect to the disposition to be made of the matter. Failure not to do so will result in an "F" grade.

Manpower and Sports Studied At State Meeting

"Effects of National Manpower Program on Higher Education" was one of the main subjects discussed at the annual meeting of the State Association of Junior Colleges at Yosemite Park Thursday and Friday.

The part junior colleges may play in an emergency training program — both military and industrial — came in for considerable discussion.

The group voted not to participate in national athletic events after September 1951. Some sort of state tourney would have been offered.

Enrollment Rises In Night Classes

Students in night school now number 1274, according to Mr. Raymond Sanders, principal of the school.

New classes have been formed recently. A night course scheduled for next week starts Monday.
School Play Set For February 1

The play "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be presented by Miss V. Chappell's class at the high school auditorium on the evening of February 1. It is a play in three acts by Joseph Kesselring. The cast has been selected and it is: Abbey Brewster, Barbara Max Jim; The Reverend Dr. Harper, Keith Erwin; Teddy Brewster, Harvey Gilzean; Officer Brophy, Bob Daniels; Officer Klein, Charles Salinas; Martha Brewster, Barbara Leach; Elaine Harper, Ann Vander; Mortimer Brewster, Jay Townsend; Jonathan Brewster, Norman Miller; Dr. Einstein, Harold Steele; Officer O'Hara, William Starr; Lieutenant Roaney, James Crumpacker; and Mr. Witherspoon, Ronald Blood.

VISITS COLLEGE
Mrs. Genevieve Dexter, Mrs. Lucy Hunt, Mrs. Koeggy, and Miss Francis Hunt were visitors at Shasta College last Monday.

Got An Idea For A Name?
"The Shasta" is not the permanent name of the school paper of Shasta College, and the staff is anxious to get a name plate made to use permanently at the top of the front page.

A contest is being planned for the purpose of choosing a name for the paper. The reason for the delay so far is that the name may be chosen with some connection to the team name.

SHASTA'S BUSY PLACE—Another first at Shasta College was the opening of the Student Union, November 6. To add dignity to the occasion, Dr. Gilbert A. Colyer, president of Shasta College, was on hand to serve coffee and hamburgers to the students. He was ably assisted by Mrs. M. Flaherty and Mrs. L. Downs, who will be on hand from 9 a.m. on every day to help quench the thirst and hunger pains that seem to strike the college student so persistently.

It's Time For Thanks
It's time to take a rest from the rigorous labors of higher learning. Two days next week, Thursday and Friday, have been declared school holidays. Thursday, November 23, is Thanksgiving, and Friday, November 24, is a day set aside to commemorate from an overdue of turkey. These two days of rest should put everyone in fine form for an enjoyable weekend, it is hoped.
GREEN AND GRAY?

Green and gray, Shasta College’s school colors, have a fight ahead in order to keep their present standing.

In an office bulletin last week, it was announced that any person wanting a re-vote on school colors could submit a petition, containing signatures of 100 college students to the Steering Committee for consideration. At the meeting last week, a petition for the school colors of black and gold was submitted.

Originally, a color committee was selected to study color combinations and the way the different colors took in dye. After much deliberation, the committee came out with a ballot including green and white, green and gray, and navy blue and white. Green and gray were selected by a large majority. The basketball uniforms were ordered in those colors to an expense of over $600. In the past few weeks numerous posters have been appearing in the halls adorned with pom-poms and suggestions for school team names.

Team names so far suggested include Cavaliers, Knights, Pandas, and Warriors.

Students have taken sides and the battle ranges over the connotations of black and gold, or the retaining of green and gray.

At this writing, it appears definite that there will be a re-vote and black and gold will be on the ballot for sure, along with green and gray, of course.

Only time will tell what colors will remain at Shasta College.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

Growing Pains

In the few weeks since Shasta College was born, it has grown into a very spoiled child. At first it tended, like any new baby, to look for food, such as the California Junior College student Government Conference. Next it looked for respect, by begging the world, “treat us as adults.” These were normal reactions, but the baby was trying to grow too fast. It could not keep its high school.

When the child was first born, its mother, the City of Redding, was proud of her baby and willing to tell all the world what a nice intelligent child she had. A few little signs of growth were showing. In the original choice of colors, a committee to draw up a constitution, a newspaper, and a yearbook staff. Yes, Shasta College was showing signs of becoming a very nice child.

The baby wanted to grow fast, as all babies do, but it forgot that it also wanted to be treated like an adult in its own world. One of the first signs of the new baby’s return revolt against the colors that had already been chosen. A group of students who evidently were undecided at the time of the decision, later became dissatisfied and decided to circulate a petition for new colors. The basketball coach had already ordered uniforms for the team, in the original colors, but the students felt that a little confusion now would be better than unhappiness for years to come.

This color argument is the step that shows how the baby really is. A decision was made and an adult would stand firm. Petitions are fun to sign and many people love elections, but how many more petitions will be circulated before the colors are chosen? Will any good publicity come out of Shasta College with Green and Gray?

TRADITIONS AT S. C.

Shasta College is making progress on its program of social activities with two dances in the past and three more already planned. But now is the time to be thinking of traditions for the college.

All schools have traditions and Shasta College doesn't need to be an exception. This year is the time for trying out the events which may eventually be a part of Shasta College.

Since this is a new school, we need new and different traditions. Many schools in California have the same old used traditions as the school in the next town. Let's try to originate some of our own.

It isn't too soon to be thinking about traditions here at S. C., so if you have any ideas—let them be known.

LOAN FUND SET UP FOR SHASTA STUDENTS

A $200 loan fund was set up by the Shasta High School Class of 1950 for the purpose of helping needy students at Shasta College on a loan basis.

Anyone who needs money for books or other school supplies should consult Mrs. M. Noetstine, Mr. K. Tinkler, or Dr. G. A. Culler in order to benefit from the fund.

There is a copy of the much discussed Loyalty Oath and a discussion of its origin in California in the November issue of the California Teachers Association Journal. The Oath is required of all public employees including teachers, not just teachers.

Let's hope that soon the baby will learn that ideas should be well thought out before decisions are made. The road to adulthood is long, but not unattainable, if we choose to go about it like adults. Shasta College is young and vigorous, but let's forget the childish quarrels of youth and by our actions become an adult college very soon.

—Andrea M. Nibecher.

Some Observations

Basketball Team Set for Initial Shasta Contests

SC's first organized athletic team will test their wings December 1 and 2 in Klamath Falls. At that time and place our basketball team will engage Oregon Technical College.

According to all available information, the "Owls" will do well. The question of whether their success will be limited to the home court remains unanswered. The Owls' record is 2-2, and they have lost to all but one of their opponents, the Redding Bowl and California Street has offered special rates to college students in the P. E. classes, with no extra charge for shoes, and some added pointers for beginners. One opt student bowled a score of 152 in the first game, which should encourage some of the others on the ball and improve their scores.

The morning gym classes have not been able to take part in this sport, as the bowling alley is not open during the morning, but, according to Mrs. Marva Note, a dean of women, a program is underway to offer bowling opportunities to the students who have not yet had the opportunity to take part in their regular sport. Special classes may be arranged soon for those interested. Until then, morning classes in women's P. E. will continue with a soccer game. The weather permits.

As far as bowling goes—students are all set for it, right down the line! —P.M.

Missing Exams...

The bulletin read in all classes Friday, November 10, concerning make-up examinations points out the need for a change in the attitude of the faculty toward the needs and problems of the student. A fixed rule, "You shall take a make-up exam in any course," is not always the best course for the isolated cases. We, in a democracy, are concerned with the welfare of the individual. It seems that another definite example of the operation of the democratic principle in our school systems.

The thought has been expressed that, because students will be going from Shasta College to the larger universities, such as California, Stanford, and Southern California, the work here should be on the level of those institutions. While this is true and provision must be made to take care of the needs of the students, it is also important that the faculty members be aware of the needs and problems of the students. This will help to improve the educational process. —P.M.

SET 'EM UP, BOYS!

The recently formed "bowling" classes in P. E. have met with appreciative enthusiasm by both men and women students here at Shasta College. Mr. Platt, of the Redding Bowl and California Street, has offered special rates to college students in the P. E. classes, with no extra charge for shoes, and some additional pointers for beginners.

One opt student bowled a score of 152 in the first game, which should encourage some of the other players on the ball and improve their scores.

The morning gym classes have not been able to take part in this sport, as the bowling alley is not open during the morning, but, according to Mrs. Marva Note, dean of women, a program is underway to offer bowling opportunities to the students who have not yet had the opportunity to take part in this popular sport. Special classes may be arranged soon for those interested. Until then, morning classes in women's P. E. will continue with a soccer game when weather permits.

Health Program To Be Extensive

According to Mrs. Beth Starr, health nurse for Shasta Union High and Shasta College, a rather extensive health program is being planned for this year.

Some progress has already been made on the planned program with Chest X-Rays, hearing, and vision tests already completed.

A crippled children's clinic is also being planned. This clinic, Mrs. Starr includes all students. Mrs. Starr would like anyone who feels that he needs an orthopedic diagnosis to contact her before November 9 or 10.

The nurse stated that most of her work is done in conjunction with the Physical Education department. The health rooms, which Mrs. Starr described as being light and cheery, are unfinished; but Mrs. Starr can be found in the health rooms from 10:30 to 11:30 every day for student conferences.

MRS. COLLER HOSTESS FOR TEACHERS' WIVES

Mrs. G. A. Coller entertained the wives of faculty members and women teachers of Shasta College at a get-acquainted party in her home recently. Refreshments were served and cards were played by the guests.

Parties were given by Richard Bailey, Mrs. Warren Bailey, Mrs. Milton Black, Mrs. Donald C. Boyd, Miss Virginia Chappell, Mrs. Maurice Davis, Mrs. Robert Frenkle, Mrs. Carl Gilmore, Mrs. Michael Graban, Mrs. Corene James, Mrs. Donald Kaufman, Mrs. Oscar Mathews, Mrs. Miss Loeb, Mrs. Marva Note, Mrs. Jackson Price, Mrs. Raymond Sanders, Mrs. Philip Stubblefield, Mrs. Ernest Stump, Mrs. Neldon Taylor, Mrs. Kenneth Tinkler, Mrs. Evelyn Twaddle, and Mrs. Beth Starr.

DR. COLLER SPEAKS TO METHODIST GROUP

Dr. Gilbert A. Coller, president of Shasta College, addressed the Methodist Men's Club, Wednesday Night, October 26. His talk was on the "Bible.

By way of an introduction let us say that this is intended to be a column and is also intended to please the readers, one and all. Any comments you may have after perusing this attempt thoroughly may be submitted to the Jour room. Let's keep it clean, however!

Small stuff: "Hashknife" SPEARS lets it be known that he is keeping his grades on a nice even level out of the shop way. Hasn't varied all year, just Straight F's all along. . . . "Digger" SALINAS reports his employers have an easy lay-away plan to fix anyone's budget. Rumor has it that MEEKER's mixing ability is confined to student conferences and social affairs. Tarbore, the meacucooniose piece . . . The Phi-Mus seems to be Moeing right along. Good luck on the first venture of this sort, gals . . . It was wafeted to these ears on the evening breeze that the power behind Black and Gold originated downtown. They also seem to favor Black Knights for the name. Sounds extremely good to this person.

Hope everyone agrees with the opinion that we received a bountiful 25c worth of music and entertainment at the Goblin Hop awhile back. I certainly did Orchids to the new dance group and Mr. Stubblefield. . . . Notice that Ipana smile as exhibited by Mr. RICHARDS the last fortnight or so? It is definitely attractive. But, what, pray tell, does NINA think about the whole thing? . . . Discretion is very much the better part of valor to the basketball squad. It seems they have no burning desire for 30 minute wind sprints. Quite peculiar, I call it. . . Ever notice who is perpetually at the door collecting the old lucite? Uh-huh, SCOTTY is the boy and he misses not a trick. Stick with it, Andy, we appreciate the help. . . .

Also a keen business man is the congenial DUFFY of music-box fame. Garner him down on a ten-cent ice cream bar to six cents and you have accomplished the eighth wonder of the modern world. What a day, Ted? For sale Dept: One razor, three years old but not used, in general A condition. Anyone the least bit interested contact JACK LAMPHUG. . . . "Tarzan" JAEGLER broke his grapevine just recently. Not too good! . . . Man behinds the scenes story. A portly gentleman known to few as Mr. Soul handles the technicians duties for dances, radio programs, etc. Thanks to you from this corner! . . . And the Ovantine flowed like wine at the Richards ball of Friday last. Going away sairee for the man from Renton, Jack Scannel. . . . Attention Basketball Team: Practice will be held in the new college gym tonight. . . . In the recent talent poll several students referred to past experience as entertainers at the fabulous Squaw-Hop. . . . Seen in the typing room: RENEE explaining the intricacies of the typewriter to some of our more versatile basketball players. Seems to be the lack of letters on the keys was the main difficulty. . . . Jolly Cholly of the week: Mrs. Flaherty who does a great job in the Student Union. . . .

Until next time (?) I must say it's Dunn, son.

CONSPIRING CLEOPATRAS HURRY! DEADLINE FOR DATING ARRIVES

Tomorrow is the day! Gals, if you don’t ask that dream man of yours to the Turnabout Dance, you’d better pick what’s left from the remains and drag some form of masculinity to the big doings tomorrow night in the music room of the college. It’s the big dance of the year as far as the gals are concerned, and fun is sure to be in store for everyone.

Dancing will be from 9:00 to 12:00, with music provided by the Collegiate Orchestra under the direction of Mr. P. Stubblefield. Everyone, including men and women, is asked to come in casual attire, that is, jeans, levis, slacks, loud shirts, etc.

This is one time it will definitely prove advantageous to have a midget charger for a boy friend, for admission charges will run according to height, a penny an inch to be exact.

Sadye Hawkins dances are slowly becoming a tradition in most institutions of higher learning, so here’s an excellent chance to attend another “first” in the many already established traditions of Shasta College.

SAYS HE’S NO HERO!

Mr. L. Willbur, shop instructor, was not hurt while helping someone, as the last Shaston would have you believe, but by trying to open a push type window. His hands were wet and they slipped and went thru a window.

“I was hurt by my own plain foolishness,” explained Mr. Willbur emphatically.

ART FILE PLANNED FOR SC DEPARTMENT

The first arts and crafts department at Shasta College is being handled by Mr. Donald Boyd. He comes from the University of Oregon, where he received his training, which was interrupted by six years in the air force.

Mr. Boyd taught art at Montana State College, then returned to Oregon University to receive his Master degree. He recently presented a one-man show of modern oils, which will be shown at the Portland Museum next spring.

Mr. Boyd is planning an art file for the college. It will consist of types of art reproductions of which a great deal is to be found in old magazines such as Life, Fortune, Harper’s Bazaar, and Vogue. Anyone having any of these magazines is asked to bring them to the art department.

Now that this department has been opened, Mr. Boyd is also teaching ceramics and will be able to expand to other crafts such as weaving and jewelry.

We whipped the hardy Spaniard in a short and SNAFU war. For a Board of Strategy we had The gals of the DAR.

From then till 1917

We rested our laurel;
Then took a swipe at Kaiser Bill
For the uplift of his morals.

In 1929 we crashed
And blamed it all on Hoover;
But the full command
And no one could remove our...
